CAN YOU GUESS.

Here's a Chance to Make
Ten Dollars Easy.

All You Have to Do Is to Pick the Winners in the Coming
Primary.

Just for the interest attached to a guessing contest and to put a little more interest into the coming campaign for County officers, The News will give its readers a chance to make ten dollars and have a little fun at guessing on the side.

To the person making the first nearest correct guess of the winners in the Democratic Primary Election which will be held in this county on Saturday, June 1st, 1901, The News will present a ten dollar gold piece. The conditions of the contest are simple. Old subscribers and new subscribers who pay $2 on their subscriptions will each be entitled to a guess, and to as many guesses as they pay for their subscription. If no one guesses correctly, the first one who guesses the closest to all the winners will receive the ten dollars.

You intend to pay your subscription anyway, and you may as well pay before the first day of June and have a chance of getting your money back, besides gaining the distinction of knowing more about the political situation than your neighbors.

Each guess will be registered when received as to the exact day, hour and minute. No one will be permitted to see how any one else has guessed. In guessing only the offices on the ballot are to be considered.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

Lawn Grass.

While most of the seed stores sell special lawn grass mixtures which contain a little of this or more varieties of grass seed, we doubt if any of them will give better results than to mix one bushel of Kentucky blue grass, a half bushel of clean redtop or a bushel in the chaff, one peck of sweet vernal and one pound of white clover, the above being amount for one acre. The blue grass is earlier than the redtop, and the redtop resists summer heat better, while the fragrant, sweet vernal is good both early and late. Have the ground thoroughly pulverized and scatter rich with about 600 pounds lawn dressing per acre, which has more nitrogen and potash than the usual superphosphates, and sow in spring as early as the ground can be well worked or sow in August. We prefer the artificial fertilizer to the barnyard manure for lawn as being free from weed seeds. The above mixture is also a good one for permanent pasture.

Killing Brush.

We see much fear in our western exchanges about the value of the Angora goat to destroy brush, says American Cultivator. If that is their strong point, we do not want them. It used to be the fashion to advocate keeping sheep to kill weeds and briars. They will surely do that if kept on them, but we never knew any one to start with sheep with that as his main incentive who did not come to the conclusion that there was no profit in sheep. If we want good wool and mutton, the sheep must have something besides briars to feed upon, and if they choose to take a few briars or weeds as a sort of condiment with the other food well and good. So we think if Angora goats are kept to kill brush entirely they will furnish little mutton and a poor feed. Give us the old plan for killing brush, mow in July, burn in August and then let sheep pick a few of the tender sprouts if they want them the next spring.

Hand or Machine Labor.

There are many kinds of work upon the farm which if performed by hand labor require much strength and which can be done equally well when the machine is driven by other power. The grinding of grain has passed out of hand labor long ago, but the cutting of fodder, sawing wood, pumping water and running of churn and separator are yet done on many farms by main strength of hand labor. The steam engine run by gasoline or other fuel, the windmill and the tread power are all to be used for doing such work, and each has its advocates. Can any one decide which will do the most work at the least cost or the amount that it will be profitable to employ either for or must we wait until electricity becomes a cheaper motive power than either?

Best Breed of Cows.

Which is the best breed? That's easy, says O. A. Seaton in Kansas Farmer. Some one has already answered that and said, "The breed you like best is best for you." But if you wish my opinion I would say the Jersey for cream, the Holstein for milk, the Hereford for beef and the Shorthorn for all three—milk, butter and beef.

A cow with straight back and lower line, a full neck and smooth hips ought to fatten readily, and one with a ewe neck, cat hams, rough hip bones, large odder and big dinner basket will give five or six times her weight in milk in a year and make one-third her weight in butter if properly fed and handled.

Pruning Fruit Trees.

March and April are often favorable months for pruning fruit trees, especially such as have been so well cared for that there are only some superfluous branches of last year's growth to be taken off where they crowd or are growing across one another. But the expert station in California advances another idea in regard to spring pruning. They say that of four peach trees, two of which were winter pruned and then the fruit thinned and the other two that were spring pruned after the fruit had set, the latter bore the most peaches, and they were very much larger. If this is true, we do not know why the same principle may not hold good with other fruits.

Brakes or Ferns.

How many farmers know that the ordinary small fern which we call in New England the "pasture brake" makes as good hay as clover or if not quite that much better than the swale grass among which it grows? It is a fact, or the cows show poor judgment. Let them get to a lot of it or put it down as bedding, and they will pick it out greedily. Now, we do not advise any one to grow ferns for cattle feeding, but do not condemn swale hay because the grass and the fern grow so well and are the best of the hay. Sheep also are extremely fond of this kind of hay, and all kinds of stock seem to thrive on it.

Lined Oil Cake.

It is an English tradition that something like a century ago a farmer used the refuse from a lined or faxseed oil mill to manure a field and then turned sheep on it. Going there awhile afterward, he found that the sheep had eaten the grass and the manure as well and had made a better growth than those in other fields. This is said to have been the beginning of feeding lined seed cake to sheep. Possibly it is true, for some of our most beneficial discoveries have been made in ways as accidental or providential as this.

Benefits of Cultivation.

It has been demonstrated that the poorest land in the country may be made to produce profitable crops simply by scientific cultivation and without the use of fertilizers.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Serving Vegetables.

Considering the mass of information concerning cookery which is offered us in cheap editions, there is little or no excuse for young wives to give their husbands cause to complain of sameness in their diet, even in the most economical households.

In the east of Europe it is a general custom to serve vegetables not only as accompaniments to the joint and entree, but as separate dishes, to be enjoyed by themselves. For instance, a cauliflower masked with white sauce and perhaps scattered over with grated Parmesan is a favorite dish. Another vegetable course consists of tomatoes nicely browned with bread crumbs. Fried parsnips may also occupy a place to themselves in the menu, and potato balls are also good.

There are endless delicious dishes to be made from vegetables only or with the addition of rice and brown or white sauce. Haricots and butter beans served with a pie crust are most appetizing. We make a great mistake in failing to serve vegetables as a course and to appreciate them for all they are worth, and we should do well to follow continental custom in regard to the making up of simple, appetizing entrees from vegetables solely. One hardly realizes how many dainty and savory dishes can be concocted without the aid of meat.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Glove For Household Use.

Here is a woman's invention that should prove practical for the purpose for which it was designed—namely, to protect the fingers while kneading dough or applying any polishing substance to stoves, woodwork, furniture, etc. It consists of a set of finger tips of rubber or any other flexible material suspended by elastic cords from a wristband. These tips are preferably larger than the average sized finger and are adapted to be gathered at the ends by means of the strings passing through the eyelets, as shown. Heretofore various devices have been made in the form of gloves for polishing purposes, but in all the others the serious objection has been the tendency of the hands to perspire within the gloves, causing great inconvenience to the user. This objection is obviated by the new glove, as it does not entirely enclose the hand, but affords only a covering for the fingers, leaving the rest of the hand free to the atmosphere. The patent for this invention has been granted to Annie T. Rogers of New York city.

When we enter a home, among the first things to attract our attention are the pictures, and from them we can read the taste or lack of it of the lady of the house, for they give us the key-note to her character. If we find gaudy chromes and cheap oil paintings made by "lightning artists," we know at once that refinement is lacking in that home. Pictures should be selected always with an eye to the surroundings in which they will be placed. If the house is very large and handsome and money of no consideration, then of course oil paintings by the best artists are preferable. People of moderate incomes who wish tasteful homes should choose water colors, engravings or etchings if they can be afforded. Artists' signed proofs are most desirable, but no better than good copies, with the exception of the signature, which is supposed to add value.—Maude C. Murray-Miller in Woman's Home Companion.

Body Brussels Rug.

For a cheap rug nothing is so serviceable as a body brussels. We have a large piece that has been in constant use for 10 years and does not show a bare spot. It has been in the hall, dining room, a bedroom and is now on the middle of the sitting room floor. A thorough washing with wool soap did not seem to dim a color. We have a large lot of these wearing qualities have been well tested. Brussels is firm and heavy enough to be flat, so that it does not need the frequent spreading out that is required for an Ingrain or Smyrna.—Good Housekeeping.

Dainties to Serve With Tea.

Dainty orange wafers are exceedingly nice to pass with tea. A ginger or cinnamon wafer should be served with chocolate and a plain unfavored one with coffee. You may, if you like, pass some little bonbons, like chocolate wafers, but you should not have any other refreshments at an afternoon tea. Remember that in these days elegance tends toward simplicity.—Ladies' Home Journal.

When Cakes Stick to the Griddle.

A point to remember in baking cakes is that salt will remedy a tendency to stick. If the cakes adhere to the griddle while baking, grease the griddle well, sprinkle salt on it, rub it thoroughly with a dry cloth, then grease it and try again.

A Gentle Hint.

In our style of climate, with its sudden changes of temperature—rain, wind and sunshine often intermingled in a single day,—it is no wonder that our children, friends and relatives are so frequently taken from us by neglected colds, half the deaths resulting directly from this cause. A bottle of Boschee's German Syrup kept about your home for immediate use will prevent serious sickness, a large doctor's bill; and perhaps death, by the use of three or four doses. For curing Consumption, Hemorrhages, Pneumonia, Severe Coughs, Croup, or any disease of the Throat or Lungs, its success is simply wonderful, as your druggist will tell you.  President McKinley is to start the machinery going at the Pan-American exposition in Buffalo. He will be at Jackson, Miss., on May 1, at 2:30 p. m. if the plans of his itinerary do not fail and will touch the starting button there. Twelve thirty p. m. at Jackson is 1:30 p. m. at Buffalo.

In the last issue of his paper, "The Commoner," Wm. J. Bryan says: "The testimony of Governor Bradley, taken in connection with the other circumstances in the case, makes it clear that Taylor was aware of the plot to assassinate Goebel. It will shock the public at large to know that there is conclusive testimony connecting the Executive of a State with a scheme to assassinate his political rival. So long as there is no positive proof, the friends of Taylor might excuse themselves for refusing to believe his guilt, but in the presence of such testimony, furnished by Governor Bradley and corroborated by Judge Yost, even the most extreme partisans of Taylor will be silenced."

The coming of Mr. Walker Whitehouse to this city is looked forward to with more than usual interest by our theater-goers, and this season his engagement promises to surpass any which he has played here. Mr. Whitehouse is owing to the fact that Mr. Whitehouse is to present the romantic comedy success, "Heart and Sword." It is the true story of love, war and adventure, and affords Mr. Whitehouse an opportunity for excellent dramatic work along the line of romantic acting.

Mr. Whitehouse appears at the Opera House on Tuesday, May 7th.

"THE LOST RIB"

Mr. Ward Russell, who delivers his humorous lecture "The Lost Rib," at the Opera House on next Friday night, is one of the few successful lecturers of the present day. He is spoken of in the highest terms by the entire Lexington press, he having delivered this lecture in that city on three different occasions. The Lexington Leader says of him: "A large audience gathered in Milligan Chapel last evening to hear Rev. Ward Russell deliver his new lecture entitled 'The Lost Rib.' From the introductory sentence to the last word Mr. Russell had his audience in laughter, applause or in tears. The lecture opened with the scene beneath Edenic bowers, where Adam lost his rib and won it again. The hearers were made to take a sail on that wonderful vessel called courtship and to seek to find why so many fear to venture upon it. 'Puppy' love was humorously described and analyzed and then the 'real article' itself was happily depicted and illustrated by word pictures."

Young Women

The entry into womanhood is a critical time for a girl. Little menstrual disorders started at that time soon grow into fatal complications. That female troubles are killing graveyards proves this. Wine of Cardui establishes a painless and natural menstrual flow. When once this important function is started right, a healthy life will usually follow. Many women, young and old, owe their lives to Wine of Cardui. There is nothing like it to give women freedom from pain and to give young women for every day of life. $1.00 bottles at druggists.

Miss Della M. Strayer, Tully, Kan. "I have suffered untold pain at menstrual periods for a long time, was nervous, had no appetite, and lost interest in everything. I felt was miserable. I have taken four bottles of Wine of Cardui, with Theodore's Black-Dragee, when needed, and today I am entirely cured. I cannot express the thanks I feel for what you have done for me."

A. O. U. W. CARNIVAL

Garth Lodge To Celebrate Their Twenty-fifth Anniversary

On Wednesday, the 12th of June, Garth Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary with a grand twenty-four hour carnival, which will excel anything ever previously given in Paris. The ceremonies will begin at sunrise on the morning of the 12th, and will continue until sunrise on the following day. On the morning of the 11th a parade will be given which will be participated in by lodges from different neighboring cities. The different fraternal lodges of Paris will also be invited to parade, and the Paris Fire Department will probably turn out. In the afternoon there will be a grand ballroom assembly. The assembly will take up with him an advertisement of Garth Lodge. When about to descend he will scatter the seeds, and the person finding the slip with the ten dollars in gold. At night at the Opera House will be presented a play by members of the lodge, assisted by some professional talent. After the play Garth Lodge will entertain their visitors with a superb banquet at the Odd Fellows Hall. There will be fire works galore and the whole affair will assume the nature of a carnival. The entire city will be handsomely decorated, and the affair will be lavishly advertised throughout the State, and undoubtedly attract a large crowd to Paris on that day.

The Hospital.

The building of a hospital in Paris seems now to be almost an assured fact. There never was a subject broached by a newspaper which has met with such universal approbation. Everyone is talking about it. Dr. W. C. Ussery, in an alleged interview in another publication, goes over a ground already mentioned in the News, and asks for its sanction to it. The News is willing to do anything in its power to advance this movement, and will not in the least by sarcasm or innuendo say anything which will be detrimental to it. It is the province of a newspaper, and especially one published in a small town, to do all it can to aid any legitimate enterprise of the town. The News, during the twenty-one years of its existence has labored to build up the town of Paris. Its large subscription list and the liberal amount of advertising it contains shows that its work is appreciated. As long as there is a possible show of getting the hospital we will continue to advocate it.

There have been numerous offers of donations to the hospital should it be built. Mr. Ed Hutchcraft, who travels for a large surgical instrument house in the west, has offered to contribute an operating table of the very latest improved pattern. Such representative men as R. J. Neely, J. T. Hinton, George W. Davis, in fact almost every business man in Paris, are willing and anxious to help. There are numerous improvements which Paris needs, such as sewers, brick roads, public libraries, etc., but none of them will fill as long felt want or do as much good as the hospital.

Art Exhibit.

The citizen of Paris, or the stranger who enters the gates, who fails to see the collection of pictures exhibited in the High School during the coming week, well, the said person will be seriously at fault for failing to grasp a splendid opportunity. There is not a picture in the collection that is not worth going far to see; they will please all who can appreciate the beautiful and the model collection of the masterpieces in art. It will do you good to spend what time you can with them.

Not only are the pictures worth seeing, and worth four by the price charged, but there will be four special lectures by some of Kentucky's most talented students. Mrs. A. K. Bourne, Professor of Civil History at Kentucky University, has been secured for two lectures—Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. Miss Windmine Loe, also of Lexington, comes Tuesday for two lectures: the best musicians in our city will lend their aid. Consider this also: the exhibit is held for the most worthy object of buying pictures for the school-rooms. Every picture placed in a school is a distinct gain for every one who enters the building, a source of inspiration to teachers and pupils.

You merchants and professional men, you men who labor with hand as well as with brain—all, bethink you that the Public School is yours, and the children there are yours. Show your interest in the school, the children, and in pictures, by taking time to visit the exhibition. Miss Loe will talk this afternoon explaining many of the pictures. In the evening she will lecture on "Why and How We Should Study Pictures." Miss Washington and Mrs. W. H. Lucas will sing.

A Wonderful Operation.

The Chicago Journal contains a column article of a very rare and dangerous surgical operation which was successfully performed at the hospital of the Illinois Medical College by Dr. B. B. Eades, formerly of this city. The operation consisted of removing the stomach of a patient who was afflicted with cancer of that organ. The patient lived through the ordeal, and is well on the way to recovery, minus that little organ once deemed absolutely necessary to life. The Journal thus describes the operation: "An hour and a half was required for the operation. The separation was made first at the bottom of the esophagus, where it enters the stomach, and again at the top of the jejunum, thus removing the stomach and duodenum. The jejunum was then drawn up and attached to the base of the esophagus, the incision in the abdomen was sewed up, and the patient soon came out of the chloroform. He smiled feebly and said that he was free from the terrible pain for the first time in a year."

Now is the time to clean house and decorate. J. T. Hinton has a stock of wall paper, comprising everything from the cheapest to the finest. If you are thinking of having your rooms papered, in justice to yourself you cannot afford to miss looking at his stock. (1t)

Disastrous Runaway.

Yesterday morning while the large furniture wagon of J. T. Hinton was being loaded with furniture at the N. & N. freight depot, the pair of gray horses became frightened and ran away. They turned into Pleasant at Fifth and left havoc in their wake. Several narrow escapes were had by passing vehicles from being run into, and a break cart was upset and badly damaged. Before the team was stopped, they had smashed the wagon into kindling wood and had seriously injured themselves.

The Kentucky Derby.

The twenty-seventh Kentucky Derby was run yesterday at Louisville, an immense crowd witnessing it. The day was an ideal one, and the track was in splendid condition. The following is the result of the race: His Eminence, first. Samazorro, second. Driscoll, third. Time—2:07 3/4.

School Items of Interest.

Last year's enrollment for the eighth month was 682. This year's enrollment for the same month, 745. Teachers employed last year, 30, teachers employed this year, 19.

Two hundred and sixty books have been added to the school library. Roger Thompson and Elizabeth Jamison, of the Sixth Grade, have charge of the new books purchased with the money donated by the City Council. Among the books purchased for the school library are a full set of the International Encyclopedia, two sets of Annuals for 1898-1899-1900, and the Step in Dictionary in two volumes. Forty-five minutes are given the pupils each day to read book taken from the new library.

After a careful examination of the copy books of the pupils of the first six grades the Superintendent pronounces the work in writing well and creditably done. The pupils are also doing creditable work in drawing, which fact speaks well for Mrs. Beck's abilities as a drawing teacher.

When visiting the art exhibit this week do not forget to look at the various school rooms and learn what the children are doing. The pupils are working hard to merit promotion. The teachers express themselves as satisfied with the progress their pupils are making.

If you have a desire to know how on general topics go and hear them in their geography work.

The new library will aid the teachers materially in making their reading work more interesting. A saving of more than a hundred dollars from the publisher's price has been realized in the purchase of the new books.

The grades of all the pupils in the various classes will be published in pamphlet form at the close of the school year—June 7th. Commencement exercises of the white schools will take place June 6th; those of the colored schools the night following. June 4th is the date set for class day exercises.

Rev. Argabrite has been invited by the class of 1901 to deliver the graduation sermon on June 3d, Friday, May 3d, will be given the children as a holiday. The question of class honors will be decided on Friday, May 24th.

Only six weeks of school. Teachers and children extend a cordial invitation to the members of the School Board, the press and all others interested, to attend the schools.

PROF. ALGIE R. CROOK, of the Chicago Northwestern University, while talking to his class recently said: "I have never said a profane word, never drank, chewed or smoked, and never hugged or kissed a woman in all my life." Algie is not living, he is simply existing.

Mr. F. W. Shackelford, the contractor while demolishing an old house on the farm of Mr. J. Will Bedford, eight miles from town, stepped on a loose plank which gave way with him, throwing him to the ground and inflicting painful injuries. He is now on crutches.

President Starts On His Journey.

The Presidential party left Washington yesterday morning on their long trip. The President and his guests will be waited upon by the Pullman Company and the railroads bear all the expense.

The cost will be for transportation, $23,500; Pullman, $7,380, besides the cost of edibles and drinkables.

A crowd of about seventy-five raftmen came up on the Maysville train yesterday morning and stopped over here to get their orders cashed at the Agricultural Bank. One of them became intoxicated and created a disturbance in James Arkle's grocery, and drew a revolver on W. T. Ficklin. Officer Mernagh gathered him into the police house. We assessed a fine of $27 against him. This was about the sum total of his possessions, and Mr. Mernagh kindly loaned him money enough to purchase his railroad ticket home.

There is not a furniture house in Central Kentucky that can show as elegant and complete a stock of carpets as J. T. Hinton, and his prices are just right. (1t)
